The company has shown a tendency to stand firmly by its action; hence the results of today's meeting will prove of great interest.

The situation is rather critical, as the local union has appealed to the grand union. The latter can with an official, regular or deputized, on the scene of the trouble, declare a general strike if thought necessary. It is possible that such a strike may be called if no agreement is reached today, and should such action be taken. Utah would not be affected alone as all the company's employes in Idaho. Montapa and Wyoming would walk out under the orders. This would result in a complete tie-up, or at least a temporary crippling of the service. The union men hope to arrive at a satisfactory agreement with the com-
